Call for Abstract

It is our pleasure to invite you to our annual conference “GYANOTSAV BIHAR” organized by a group of scholars from Bihar under the aegis of Anadi Foundation. Gyanotsava is a multidisciplinary forum of scholars who want to promote the production and dissemination of research on Bihar. Gyanotsava has more than 150 members from various universities of the world and is still growing. It holds fortnightly webinars and an annual conference. You may have attended many conferences in urban centres and big universities, but GYANOTSAV BIHAR is unique. Last year it was held in Pindaruch (Darbhanga) village, beside a huge pond in a mango orchard. This year it is planned at Maranchi village located at the bank of river Ganga near Hathidah railway station. We will arrange your stay free of charges in the village. Moreover, Maranchi village is well connected with Mokamah and Barauni by rail and road which are 10 km and 18 km away respectively.

We feel that villages have been centres of knowledge production throughout the long span of the history of Indian civilization. It is time to reclaim that space once again as a centre for learning. We are planning lectures and thematic presentations by distinguished social scientist working on Bihar. Please come and be a part of this campaign of research and discourse creation on Bihar.

Papers are invited on broad themes related to (but not limited to) Language, Literature and Culture; History, Society, and Politics; economics and Finance; Science, Technology and Education; Environment and sustainable Development. We are open to comparative studies in which one of the states should definitely be Bihar.
